March Multiplication Madness

Many students at Hope Academy struggle with their multiplication tables.

They tend to rely on their fingers instead of their minds.

So in order to encourage learning and build confidence, this past Friday the March Multiplication Madness tournament was held at Hope.

In order to prepare for this “Big Dance,” during the month of March, the students took time each day and practiced their multiplication tables in hopes of becoming the tournament champion and trophy winner. During the tournament on Friday, two students at a time were pitted against each other and would buzz in to answer the multiplication problem on the screen. The atmosphere was tense and the competition was tough, it was a one and done format - with the loser becoming a cheerleader for the other students.

The result? March Madness became a way for students who were behind in math to become energized and excited about the subject. Now, many of the students are very confident in their abilities and their knowledge has - well, multiplied. March Multiplication Madness gave every student their “One Shining Moment” to believe, for once, they might be a champion.

The ref was ready with his whistle while one student did a last minute drill.

Once they had their game faces painted and their buzzers ready, they got down to business.
